

InterPore Council

Notes InterPore Council

March 10, 2025

A key point of discussion was the InterPore Foundation's development and governance. The Foundation, established in 2016, entered a stable operational phase with its four-year chair rotation. Retroactive and annual discharge of Foundation directors was formally approved, ensuring clarity and accountability moving forward.

The financial reports indicate that InterPore2024 is in a strong financial position.

Azita Ahmadi was reappointed as InterPore Treasurer, and Majid Hassanizadeh was reappointed as Managing Director. Both appointments were approved unanimously.

The Council approved revisions to the Foundation's bylaws, clarifying procedures for fund management, especially distinguishing between grants and awards, and formalizing quorum and voting requirements.

Financial strategy discussions, led by Pal-Eric Oren, recommended maintaining a buffer to ensure a strong financial status. Council members recognized the need to reduce dependence on conference revenues by fostering greater industry engagement.

Strategic Planning updates, reported by Karsten Thompson, outlined a framework for InterPore's future development. Council members were invited to provide feedback on proposed action items, with a final version to be presented at InterPore2025.

Conference planning procedures were also discussed, particularly the process for selecting future conference locations.
